Highline College Nursing Assistant Certified (NAC) Training Program FAQ's

The NAC course prepares students to take the Washington State Nurse Aide Exam. After successfully completing the course, students will apply as a class for the state exam online. The exam is given at Highline College in Building 23, Room 115. Information regarding this process will be provided in class.

Who can apply for the Nursing Assistant Certified Training Program?

Anyone over 16 years of age can apply for the Nursing Assistant Certified Training Program. If you are under 18 you must complete an Underage Student Waiver Form and submit it to Highline College's Continuing Education Department in Building 99, Room 101. However, to be employed as a Nursing Assistant, you must be 18 years of age or older and a high school diploma or a high school diploma equivalency is preferred.

What are the costs associated with the NAC program?

SELF PAY	CREDIT OPTION OR FUNDING SOURCES
$770.00	$968.54
Certificate of Completion $595 tuition $110 state test fee $65 WA DOH application fee	7 College Credits and Certificate of Completion $793.54 (for in-state tuition) $110 state test fee $65 WA DOH application fee

Both the $770 and $968.54 fee include the required $57.35 Medical/Liability Insurance, Nursing Supply Fee, Building Fee, and Testing Fees.

*Out-of-state tuition is based on residency status and 7-credit equivalency. For more information, please visit the Registration and Records page at <http://registration.highline.edu/tuition.php>.

There are additional fees required below:

- $1.00 daily parking passes. Must be purchased daily. Purchases can be made at the parking pay stations located in the south and east parking lot. For more information, please visit <https://safety.highline.edu/parking.php>
- $4.15 Student Id/NAC Badge fee
- $12-$17 Washington State Criminal Background Check
- TB Test (within the past year) or current CXR/symptom check (within the last 2 years) - price will vary depending on location
- Nursing Assistant Supplies (Refer to pages 7-8)

What is the next step after successfully completing the Nursing Assistant training course?

After successfully completing the training, you and your classmates will schedule the state exam online and test at Highline College. Your instructor will discuss this process during week three of class. If you pass the test successfully, you will be considered "certified".

We will also assist you with The Department of Health Nursing Assistant registration. Paperwork and payment will be mailed and processed by the Department of Health. This registry will allow employers to verify your Nursing Assistant credentials.

What types of financial assistance/funding are available?

The Nursing Assistant Certified Training Program does not qualify for traditional Financial Aid. Students can use other funding sources to pay for the class if eligible. Non-Highline funding sources may be eligible for the $770.00 self-pay fee (those wanting college credit must pay $968.54). Highline related funding sources must pay $968.84.
